Eligibility Information for a Marriage Search Letter

You may only search yourself as a spouse. You CANNOT search anyone else.

Contents of a Marriage Search Letter

Marriage search letters will only confirm if a marriage is registered or not registered with Vital Statistics. No other information will be provided. Searches are conducted using the criteria you provide on the application. You do not have to provide a date range for a search as all marriage records that have been registered with Alberta Vital Statistics will be searched for one fee. Records prior to 1998 may or may not be included in the results due to system limitations.

Proof of identity is required

When ordering a marriage search letter, you must present an acceptable proof of identity document. This document must be issued by a provincial or federal government. It must contain a recognizable photograph, your full name and a distinctive identification number. If the document has an expiry date, the document must currently be valid. If the document has no expiry date, then it must have been issued within the last 5 years. If the document is in a language other than English, you must provide a notarized English translation including an affidavit from the translator stating the translation is accurate. If the identification provided is not in the name that shows on the record being searched, you must provide proof that you are the same person being searched. Eg: identification is in a married name and a search is requested in the maiden name.

A designated agent cannot be used to apply for a marriage search letter as your identification is used to prove your eligibility for the marriage search letter.

Application processing time

Under normal circumstances when the application has been completed correctly and there are no further requirements, marriage search letters are usually processed within 3 business days after the registry agent submits your request to Vital Statistics.
